THE WALTER COE PUBLIC SERVICE AWARD

In 1922, the first African American police officer, Walter Coe, was hired. Captain Coe rose through the ranks making sergeant in two years; lieutenant in ten years; and earned the rank of captain in 1950, commanding his Special Investigation Division within the detective bureau. Because of his concern for the city's youth, he took an active role in the Youth Commonwealth Program. He was an advocate for those less fortunate than himself. Walter W. Coe suffered a fatal heart attack while serving in the police department's detective bureau in 1957.

THE EUGENE BROWNING MEDICAL SERVICE AWARD

Dr. Browning began his medical practice in Grand Rapids in 1905. His educational background included the Detroit College of Medicine, the University of Chicago, and internationally, the University of Vienna. His commitment to the community and its health needs established Dr. Browning as a pioneer of the present day well-baby clinics. He operated a weekly well-baby clinic at First Community A.M.E. Church. His services were given regardless of ability to pay.

THE WILLIAM GLENN
 TRAILBLAZER
 AWARD

Mr. Glenn made his voice heard for the cause of civil liberties. In 1941 he was one of the first African American employees in a Grand Rapids war production factory. He played an active role in getting all Grand Rapids war production plants open to hiring African Americans, in planning the Campau Housing Project, and in demanding the city take a stand against dilapidated housing. In 1972, he was honored by the A.C.L.U. for his lifelong action to the basic intent of the Bill of Rights.

THE RAYMOND TARDY COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

Raymond Tardy's interests focused on the concerns of the low income citizenry. He organized G.A.P. from which the Kent Community Action Program evolved. He encouraged numbers of programs that are still in existence and have become separate agencies. He was also active in efforts to obtain suitable housing for low income families and in efforts to encourage others to attain the educational goals needed to elevate their lifestyles.

THE
H.C. TOLIVER
 RELIGIOUS LIFE
 AWARD

Reverend Toliver moved to Grand Rapids in 1937. He was Pastor of True Light Baptist Church. He was tireless in his efforts to help people obtain employment. To those who could repay, he lent money. For those who were unable to repay, he gave money. If you needed help, he was always there to eat with you, weep with you, and pray with you. The community knew that he was there and that no one had to be alone.

THE HATTIE BEVERLY EDUCATION AWARD

Hattie Beverly was a pioneer for African Americans in education in Grand Rapids. She was hired as a teacher at Congress School in 1899 and was assigned in 1913 to Henry School where she remained for a number of years. She assumed her position in spite of the protest surrounding the hiring of an African American to teach there. The opposition is reported in articles in the Grand Rapids Herald (1899). Her case was one of the several incidents that led to Booker T. Washington coming to Grand Rapids to bring about a better understanding of the races.

THE MARTHA REYNOLDS
 LABOR
AWARD

Mrs. Reynolds was an international representative of the United Auto Workers. She was a vital force in labor and community affairs in Grand Rapids. Martha was committed to the union's Fair Employment Practices program and the Community Services department. An active participant in local politics, she was involved in the election of Lyman Parks to the City Commission. She was a long-serving member of the N.A.A.C.P. and a member of C.O.R.E. Martha was committed to her church, First Community A.M.E., and dedicated to the many socially active projects that were generated from there.
