6.22 Educational Support Professionals’ Code of Ethics

III. Policy Statement

The Grand Rapids Community College Educational Support Professionals recognize that personal integrity, civility, and professionalism of the highest quality are the foundation of their work. This work is guided by four key principles of conduct: Maintaining High Integrity, Conducting Work Professionally, Developing Positive Relationships, and Furthering Professional Development. Moreover, Educational Support Professionals are individuals who are responsible for support of the educational community, the management of information, and the underlying success of the institution.

This vocation requires a high level of ethical conduct along with accountability, trust, confidentiality, and self-discipline. By accepting this Code of Ethics, GRCC ESP acknowledges the responsibility to uphold the principles of conduct through their own personal day-to-day behavior. Violating these standards would result in an individual losing respect from colleagues, students, administrators, and the community. Subsequently it could diminish the positive reputation of the profession.

IV. Reason for the Policy

A. Maintaining High Integrity:
Integrity is central to GRCC ESP’s ability to work effectively with others. High integrity is maintained by:
1. Being honest and accountable for their actions.
2. Keeping sensitive information confidential (This includes abiding by the FERPA laws regarding student information.)
3. Respecting the individuality of all members of the college, including race, gender, sexual orientation, religion, and political beliefs.

B. Conducting Work Professionally:
As a positive influence in their department and to the college as a whole, members shall act in accordance with the standards of the college by:
1. Being accountable, contributing their fair share, and accepting responsibility for their work within the scope of authority.
2. Striving to increase recognition and respect of the profession in which they practice.
3. Maintaining excellence in their skills and knowledge.
4. Balancing their multiple life roles and being fully engaged in their job during working hours.

C. Developing Authentic Relationships
Understanding that by having positive interactions, with others in the college, the institution as a whole will benefit. Members shall strive to establish good working relationships by:
1. Treating all members of the campus community with civility, both on- and off-campus
2. Trusting in others to fulfill their responsibilities and depending on each other to accomplish college work in a manner that is timely and accurate.
3. Maintaining consistent good will with their colleagues, supporting and celebrating one another.

D. Furthering Professional Development
Obtaining new knowledge, skills and practices continuously improves the quality of work. GRCC ESP accomplish this by:
1. Exemplifying the best practices of the profession.
2. Being an active part of the larger GRCC community by participating on college-wide teams and campus activities.
3. Exchanging best practices with our colleagues.
4. Promoting a climate that encourages the exercise of professional judgment.
5. Achieving conditions that attract qualified persons to careers in our profession.
